

BULLETIN OF THE ROTARY CLUB OF BOMBAY

President's Pick

Shankar Mahadevan at Ananda Yaan on June 12th

June 12th. will be a red letter day for Ananda Yaan.

Alok Sekhsaria Chairman Ananda Yaan Committee said "During the fantastic Shankar Mahadevan show to raise funds for Bhavishya Yaan last July, President Ramesh Narayan had publicly said that Shankar Mahadevan had been very impressed with the concept of Ananda Yaan and had promised to visit a centre.

Well, firstly the Shankar Mahadevan Music Academy provided a very meaningful activity through April and May for our elders at the Ananda Yaan Centre at Dadar Sealink. They were exposed to a series of activities around music.

And on the 12th. June at 6pm they will travel to our Byculla Ananda Yaan Centre and show us all what they have learned.

And Shankar Mahadevan will keep his promise to President Ramesh and be there with us.

Sweet Music to the ears!!!

All members are requested to join in. A great opportunity to see the day care centre and listen to some great music.

The Man with the Money and the Heart

Despite being the Managing Director of Bain Capital and a board member of Tata Sons Limited, Amit Chandra's business acumen and knowledge of banking and equity is not what awed the Rotarians last Tuesday; it was Chandra's incessant drive to give and better the world that brought the assembly to applause throughout the meeting.

When asked about where his inspiration stems from, Chandra emphasised the importance of starting young, "Giving in many ways should begin before one has got a lot." He began his noble endeavours when he got married to his partner (and support system): funding education for children even when their income was just about enough to cover rent and daily expenses. Chandra stated, "It is not about giving when you have a lot. You should start giving as a habit when you have whatever you have." As they progressed in their careers, they started contributing in terms of a percentage of their income along with absolute amounts.

By the age of thirty, Chandra had hit his career goals of becoming a managing director and a millionaire. This brought forth a period of contemplation and reflection within him. He started questioning his purpose, how he should be using wealth more purposefully, started reading more, did a course of vipassana, and contemplated deeply upon Guru Nanak, Bill Gates, and Warren Buffet's philosophies to understand what the purpose of wealth and time was. That was when he started engaging even more in social causes.

One of the many defining moments in his life transpired when he realised he needed a reset. Thus, he made the shift from banking to equity, giving himself more time to work on his social endeavours. Many of his contemporaries and mentors did not agree with the decision, but Chandra was determined to take control of his time and gave his former workplace, DSP Merrill Lynch, a two-year notice. Chandra realised that the rush he felt while helping the less fortunate was similar to what he felt when closing deals at DSP. Consequently, he started building teams to lead projects, get on the field, and interact with the people he was trying to help, rather than just sitting behind the desk and signing cheques. From dedicating a mere twenty-five percent of his time to the social causes he was passionate about, to going to the office only twice a week, he had completely redesigned his life to focus on social wealth.

In this journey that he calls 'evolution' came a time when Chandra and his wife practiced an exercise. "Let's actually define how much wealth we really need to live our lives without expanding our material needs," they had said. Completing this exercise with a friend and a financial advisor, they transferred the decided amount to his wife's account. From this point on, the income was divided into small amounts that would go towards daily expenditure - and the rest was donated to social causes. This gave them the ability to start building universities, schools, and hospitals, giving away over a hundred crores. Chandra elaborated, "Once you cap your financial needs, and the rest of it you start giving away, you can just give endlessly. Whatever you earn, whether someone gives you X, you can give away X, someone gives you 10X, you can give away 10X. It doesn't matter, it just becomes a number."

In closing, the Rotarians saw the very reason that Chandra believes in donating with a name rather than anonymity - it is inspiring. People are often amazed by fancy cars and shiny diamonds. However, occasionally, someone inspires you by sharing their story of generosity and compassion. And that's exactly how he left the audience: inspired!

Simple heart tips:

Taking care of your heart is as simple as ABCDEs.

A: ACTIVITY. It's important to be as physically active as you can throughout the day. Try and get in 10,000 steps. Simple tips: use the stairs instead of the elevator, park the car a little further away, and stand more often during your office hours

B: BLOOD PRESSURE. This is known as the silent killer, since you rarely get any symptoms if the values are high. Get it measured-don't assume it's normal. An ideal BP is less than 120/80 mmHg

C: CHOLESTEROL. This is the fat in our blood stream which clogs up in the heart arteries. Keep your total cholesterol less than 200 mg/dl, and your LDL (bad) cholesterol less than 100 mg/dl

D: DIABETES. Rotarians are sweet people, but make sure you keep your blood sugar under control. An ideal non-diabetic fasting blood sugar is less than 100 mg/dl.

D: DIET. Eat in moderation from all food groups-avoid fad diets. Adjust your caloric intake to maintain a healthy weight (BMI-body mass index, less than 25 kg/m<sup>2</sup>)

D: DO NOT- smoke. Smoking and tobacco consumption greatly increase your risk for heart disease, stroke and cancer.

E: EXERCISE- Aim to get in 30-60 minutes of exercise per day, such as a brisk walk. Please remember, this is in addition to being physically active through the day. Many of us go to the gym, but spend the other 23 hours being as sedentary as possible.

S: STRESS AND SLEEP- Aim to get in 8 hours of sleep at night and work at keeping your stress under control. Fellowships with Rotarians have shown to be highly effective means of reducing stress and leading to happiness.

Author: The Heart Truth

Dear Ramesh,

A Rotary Year par excellence. How else could I describe a year full of scaling so many new and higher peaks and, raising the bar even higher?

Our Rotary Club witnessed one of the most spectacular fund raisers (Shankar Mahadevan nite), followed by the launch of Anand Yaan, expansion of existing projects e.g. the Cotton Green Medical Centre and the Museum Solar Power. Importantly, keeping the long term and the future of RCB in mind, but at the same time setting high benchmarks and new trends in fund raising. This also was a year when our RCB received lots of media attention and bytes.

A usually difficult task but managed so very well, the lining up of excellent speakers, made our Tuesdays so interesting and to look forward to.

And between all this terrific and high powered good work, we enjoyed the very many excellent fellowship events and trips.

Having had the opportunity to be part of your team and watching you first hand was indeed a great and learning experience. Your dedication, clarity and focused approach has made Rotary year 2017-2018 indeed a memorable one for a long long time.

And above all of this, is Ramesh Narayan the person - a genuine, caring, dedicated and from the heart approach and attitudes. Ramesh, it has been Gautam and my pleasure and privilege to getting to know you even better during the year. You my friend certainly Rock great...

Warm regards,
Preeti Mehta

Ramesh this was truly your year. In terms of the passion and gusto you brought in to the Rotary and your infectious enthusiasm that enthused all of us to give our best. Way to go Ramesh! Am proud to have gotten to know you and privileged to have had a chance to work with you. You are truly an inspiration to all of us.

Thanks,
Rtn. Vrinda Rajgarhia

NEXT WEEK'S SPEAKER - SUBODH TIWARI

Subodh was born in the yogic atmosphere at Kaivalyadhama Lonavla and did his schooling in this hill station. Since a young age he was initiated into the spiritual practices by Swami Digambarji, who at that time was the Director and Spiritual head of Kaivalyadhama. Subodh was initiated into yogic practices at the age of 6 under the guidance of his father Shri O. P. Tiwari, the disciple of the founder Swami Kuvalyananda.

He did his post graduation in law and a PG diploma in human resource management apart from certification in Yoga and advanced certification course in Pranayama.

In 1997 he decided to devote his life at the institute and to serve it.

He has travelled to various countries to conducted workshops on Yoga. He has been invited as a guest speaker in numerous conferences across the world. He is a member of committees of the various Universities and the Government of India with the aim to promote yoga in various spheres such as schools, wellness centres and hospitals.

He pursues his hobby of nature photography with great passion and does all that he can to preserve nature and promote efforts towards a better environment.

At present, he is the CEO at the Kaivalyadhama Yoga Institute. His firm belief is, Yoga is not only 'doing' but 'being', and therefore in broad parameters harmony with nature and discipline, dedication and devotion in life are key to a meaningful life.
